Public Diplomacy & Technology Speaker Series: Bruce Schneier

Tuesday, September 26, 7:00 p.m. @ ASC 207

Join Cory Doctorow from the USC Center on Public Diplomacy, as he welcomes Bruce Schneier for a talk on being a wise consumer of concrete security during the abstract war on terrorism. Schneier is an internationally renowned security expert, author of the best-selling Applied Cryptography, the Bible of crypto. He has also written popular books on security, such as Secrets and Lies and his latest, Beyond Fear, which tackles the problems of security from the small to the large: personal safety, crime, corporate security, and national security. Schneier is the founder and CTO of Counterpane Internet Security, Inc., the world's leading protector of networked information.
