

CALL FOR PAPERS

CPD Perspectives on Public Diplomacy Water Diplomacy Essays and Case Studies

The USC Center on Public Diplomacy is now accepting submissions for a special edition of its CPD Perspectives series.

1. Essays

Essays between 2,500 and 3,500 words suited for this series focus on the public diplomacy components of water diplomacy activities and can be submitted in the form of a theoretical working paper, comparative study or a history of water diplomacy practiced internationally.

2. Case Studies on Water Vulnerability

1,000-word case studies focused on public diplomacy's ability to aid populations experiencing water vulnerability. To submit a case study for this series, an abstract must first be approved by CPD. Upon approval the author will be sent formatting guidelines to follow when submitting the final piece.

SUBMISSION DEADLINE: May 15, 2012

Questions about content and ideas, logistics and final submissions should be directed to CPD Assistant Director for Research & Publications, Naomi Leight at leight@usc.edu.
